

Company Profile

H.M.R., Lda is a German capital company located in Portugal, close to the Spanish border in the town of Castelo Branco.

The company has been founded in 1990 and specializes in the production of injection moulded parts, moulds and PVC extrusion.

The company is located in the industrial zone of Castelo Branco near the Spanish border. H.M.R. employs about 23 people.

The injection moulding department has modern machines with closing pressures up to 160 tons. The maximum weight of a part can be up to approx. 300 gr. We produce 24 hours a day at five to seven days a week.

We produce injection moulding plastics for the automotive industry, electronic products, blinds, measuring instruments but also for the construction area.

The moulding department has different modern machines to make and make the maintenance of moulds for injection and extrusion. Some moulds are made for our own products but most moulds are made for our national and international customers.

We have a number of cnc controlled machinery and also our own mould design department.

Because of the high precision equipment we supply also other mechanical services for local companies.
